For the invoice too small for a lawyer

IMAGINE YOU ARE A FREELANCE DESIGNER

You finished the project. You sent the invoice.

DAY 0	Project delivered. Invoice sent.
WEEK 1	"We'll pay next week."
WEEK 4	Next week became next month. They owe you $3,000.
WEEK 6	Follow-ups. A second email. Maybe a demand-letter template.
WEEK 8	How do you actually take this to court? What documents? What evidence is enough?
STOP	At that point, many people stop.

AND IT IS NOT A NICHE

60M+

Americans freelanced in 2023, millions of independent workers without a legal team behind them.

"Designers, developers, photographers, writers, tutors, consultants, anyone with a contract, an invoice, and a client who stopped responding."

THE USER

THE CURRENT OPTIONS ARE NOT GREAT

For claims under $10,000, none of the paths really work.

OPTION A Hire a lawyer. For claims under $10,000, hiring a lawyer often does not make financial sense. A few billable hours can eat the entire claim before you ever see a courtroom. MATH COLLAPSES BELOW ~$10K	OPTION B File on your own. Cheaper, but the paperwork and uncertainty make it hard to start. Which form? Which court? What evidence is enough? Most people get stuck and quietly write the money off. CONFIDENCE GAP · ENORMOUS	OPTION C, WHAT WE BUILT ClaimReady. Upload contracts, invoices, emails, screenshots. ClaimReady turns it into the documents you need: a claim form, a demand letter, and a simple filing guide. FROM "WHERE DO I START?" TO "I CAN FILE."

THE PRODUCT

Evidence in. Court-ready packet out.

ClaimReady takes messy contracts, invoices, emails, and screenshots and produces a filing packet a NYC small-claims clerk can accept, in under 60 seconds.

- 01

Statement of Claim: mirrors the official CIV-SC-50 form.
- 02

Demand letter citing CCA 1805 and statutory 9% interest under CPLR 5004.
- 03

Indexed exhibits: every contract, invoice, and email referenced by tag.
- 04

Borough-specific filing guide: which clerk's window, what fee, what to bring.

What it costs to serve.

Gemini 2.5 Flash · 120k input + 15k output tok	$0.07
Cloud Run · storage · PDF · logs	~$2.50
Stripe fees on $29 ticket (~4%)	~$1.15
Failed runs · light support	~$0.50
Contribution / $29 case	~$25

The model is not the cost driver, infrastructure and Stripe are. Gemini 2.5 Flash buys us multimodal evidence review at a fraction of a sale.

THE ECONOMICS

THREE PHASES · EARN THE RIGHT TO CAPTURE MORE

Start narrow. Compound sideways.

PHASE 01 · LAUNCH

Validate willingness-to-pay.

$29

flat per packet

~$25 contribution · ~85% margin

Single price keeps the funnel simple. First 1,000 cases earn testimonials, defendant patterns, and packet-quality data.

PHASE 02 · SCALE

Add value-based capture.

+ 1.5%

of claim value, charged at filing

~$76 avg revenue · ~94% margin

Trigger: 500 cases/month sustained. Charged upfront, not as contingency; no collection risk, no UPL framing.

PHASE 03 · DISTRIBUTION

White-label inside platforms.

$10–15

wholesale · partner pays CAC

~$8 contribution · partner-paid CAC

FreshBooks, QuickBooks Self-Employed, Upwork, Fiverr. Partner captures retention; we capture engine economics.
